Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 21-24 and 47-51, drawn to a system for testing an electronic module, classified in class 324, subclass 754.
- II. Claims 25-39, drawn to methods for testing an electronic module having a plurality of terminal contacts, classified in class 324, subclass 754.
- III. Claims 52-56, drawn to a test system for testing an electronic module, classified in class 324, subclass 754.
- IV. Claims 57-60, drawn to a system for testing an electronic module, classified in class 324, subclass 754.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because:

Inventions I, III and IV in a first set and II in a second set are related as product and process of use. The inventions can be shown to be distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced with another materially different product or (2) the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product (MPEP § 806.05(h)). In the instant case the methods of Invention II can be practiced with any of a plurality of devices as disclosed.

Inventions IV in a first set and I and III in a second set are related as combination and subcombination. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed because the combination does not require all of the details of either subcombination and at least claim 57 serves as an evidence claim that such is the case. The subcombination has separate utility such as by themselves for their intended purpose or in a different combination.

Inventions III and I are related as combination and subcombination. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed because the combination does not require all of the details of the subcombination and at least claim 52 serves as an evidence claim that such is the case. The subcombination has separate utility such as by itself for its intended purpose or in a different combination.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art because of their recognized divergent subject matter, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).

With the election of one of the above inventions further election of species is required as follows:

This application contains claims directed to the following patentably distinct species of the claimed invention:

1. The species of Figures 2A-2D.
2. The species of Figures 3A-3E.
3. The species of Figures 4A-4D.

Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. Currently, no claim appears to be generic.

Applicant is advised that a reply to this requirement must include an identification of the species that is elected consonant with this requirement, and a listing of all claims readable thereon, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35

U.S.C. 103(a) of the other invention.
